

Plaintiff's Statement of the Case

Sandra Szell has brought this case against several people who worked at Kessler Rehabilitation as aides, when she was a patient there in 2015. Ms. Szell was sent to Kessler after spine surgery for rehabilitation. She says that while she was being helped from the toilet to her wheelchair by the defendants, she was seriously injured because of their failure to safely and carefully carry out the transfer. As a result of the injury caused by the defendants, she has been paralyzed from the chest down ever since, and has suffered other serious and permanent injuries too. The defendants deny that they were negligent.
